£10m RESEARCH PLAN FOR OLYMPICS DRUG LAB

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertessexnews.co.uk

PLANS to transform Harlow's Olympics anti-doping laboratories into a pioneering medical research facility have been hailed as the town's "Games legacy".

The drug-testing unit at GlaxoSmith-Kline's New Frontiers Science Park in Flex Meadow will be converted into the world's first phenome centre, where experts hope to develop revolutionary new targeted treatments for diseases including diabetes and dementia.

Scientists aim to do this by studying patients' individual chemical make-up or 'phenome' - the ever-changing mixture of molecules in their blood, urine and tissue determined by a person's genes and influenced by their lifestyle and environment.

This in turn will enable them to identify molecular biomarkers explaining an individual's susceptibility to particular diseases and their likelihood of responding to certain drugs.

The use of cutting-edge equipment and facilities developed specifically for testing thousands of athletes competing at London 2012 will help researchers analyse samples in a faster and more detailed manner than previously possible, helping speed up the development of safer and more effective therapies.

Man appears in court after young mum is stabbed

ROAD BLOCK: Police seal off the area after the attack in Abercrombie Way, Harlow, on Saturday morning

A MAN has appeared in court accused of stabbing a young mum as she pushed her daughter's buggy along a Harlow street.

Sean McLoughlin, of Spring Hills, Harlow was charged with wounding 22-year-old Stephanie Messenger with intent to cause grievous bodily harm and possessing a bladed article – a kitchen knife – in a public place.

He is also charged with damaging the front door of Ms Messenger's home in Moorfield and stealing her passport, bank card and keys on the same date.

At a preliminary hearing at Chelmsford Magistrates Court on Monday, the bench heard that Miss Messenger suffered a cut chin requiring six stitches and wounds to her forearm and stomach in the alleged attack in Abercrombie Way on Saturday.

McLoughlin was remanded in custody pending a plea and case management hearing at Chelmsford Crown Court on October 8.

County aware of care home 'concerns'

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A CARE home in Harlow which hit the headlines last year has been the subject of more than 90 complaints over the standard of care provided to residents since the start of this year.

According to Essex County Council figures, the authority launched a total of 93 "safeguarding" investigations at Partridge Care Centre, in Partridge Road, between January and June.

Sixty-four related to neglect and a further 20 centred on allegations of physical abuse. The remaining nine involved accusations of sexual, medical, financial, emotional or "other" abuse.

The county council said that so far only 12 of the 93 complaints – which have been raised by residents, relatives and members of staff – had been found to be unsubstantiated. More than two-thirds of the investigations are ongoing.

John Aldridge, cabinet member for adult social care, said the council was fully aware of the high number of concerns raised.

"Essex County Council continues to work with residents, relatives and the staff of Partridge Care Centre to promote good quality care and ensure that all residents are safeguarded, in partnership with health colleagues, the Care Quality Commission and police," he said.

"We are fully aware of the number of safeguarding concerns which have been raised at Partridge Care Centre and actively encourage care professionals, relatives and residents to raise concerns with us across the country."

"This ensures that our safeguarding team are aware of any potential issues which can then be investigated regardless of how minor they are, which in turn greatly reduces the risk of serious cases of harm or abuse."

The 117-person home was in the spotlight last year when two of its residents died after being hospitalised with "diabetes-related problems".

An Essex Police inquiry failed to find any evidence of criminal wrongdoing but an investigation by the Care Quality Commission – a Government health watchdog – highlighted serious concerns over staff training and standards.

This led to ECC suspending all new referrals until March this year.

Recent CQC inspections have indicated the home, which is run by Loughborough-based firm Rushcliffe Care, is making improvements, but inspectors remain concerned over medical record-keeping and a "lack of respect" shown to residents.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon told the Star he was concerned by the number of new complaints, but said staff were clearly working hard to improve standards.

"Essex County Council tells me the higher level of complaints is because of extra inspections they are carrying out," he said. "I have contacted Rushcliffe Care asking for an explanation, as well as the Care Quality Commission and the Department for Health."

Hospital trust set to take over running of urgent care service

THE Urgent Care Centre at Princess Alexandra Hospital is set to be taken 'in-house' in a bid to improve the service for patients.

The facility, which is currently commissioned by NHS West Essex and staffed by the South Essex NHS Partnership Trust (SEPT), will be taken over by the PAH NHS Trust by the end of September.

The UGC, which is located next to the hospital's A&E department, was opened in 2010 following the closure of the NHS walk-in centre in Wych Elm.

Its role is to assess and treat patients suffering from minor to moderate health problems that are not immediately life-threatening but which could result in irreversible complications if left untreated.

Rumours the service faced the axe began circulating last month after PAH issued SEPT with a notice to quit the site. But health chiefs have told the Star this is merely a "contractual matter" between the two service providers flagging up the impending transfer.

However, it remains unclear what will happen to SEPT staff working at the centre.

Dr Rob Gerlis, chairman of the West Essex Clinical Commissioning Group, said the move would cut waiting times and reduce strain on the emergency department.

"The urgent care service will continue at the Princess Alexandra Hospital," he said. "A contractual change will mean there will be one service provider rather than two."

"Having one provider for both urgent care and emergency services will improve the service for all patients as a more streamlined service will result in quicker treatment for all patients."

He added: "This is part of a wider programme to improve emergency and urgent care services. All health and social care services in west Essex are working together on this as a system."

"We have involved clinicians and local people in this ongoing work with numerous workshops and public events and have recently written to key stakeholders about this. More involvement is planned for the autumn."

Workshops will put the fun in recycling

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

VIDEO game making, street dancing and puppetry are just some of the activities on offer for families attending a recycling charity's inaugural summer workshop.

The Harlow-based Phoenix Resource Centre, which recycles clean, quality waste products for community and charity projects, is putting on the trial event to provide local people with something different to do during the summer period.

Running over two sessions next Wednesday (August 8), the day will also give participants the chance to try their hand at movie-making, clay modelling, singing, physical theatre, doll making and sewing.

"The workshops are aimed at anyone from the age of five up and are all being conducted using the items we have collected and recycled within the centre," said Phoenix Resource Centre trustee Andy Richardson.

"The idea is to not only provide people in the area with the opportunity to try out some new activities this school holiday but to also test the kind of response we get to such an event. If it is a success then we would hope to conduct sessions like these at the centre on a regular basis."

The event has been organised in association with Vision4Arts Academy, a new project being launched by the charity in September which will see empty shops in the town centre converted into training facilities for alternative skills.

"Things have been going brilliantly since we opened the centre in Harlow last year and we have been working alongside a lot of local community groups," said Andy.

"A result of that is this new project where we hope to run courses and workshops to benefit different groups like NEET students (Not in Education, Employment or Training), to help give them the skills to succeed in life."

Andy added: "Essentially we hope people who have previously visited the centre – and those who haven't – come down and enjoy the activities on offer. It should be a really fun day and hopefully a taste of things to come."

The workshops run from 10am noon and from 1-3pm. Sessions cost £4 each and places need to be reserved in advance.

Children under the age of 16 need to be supervised by an adult, with supervisors welcome to participate in the activities at no extra cost. For more information email info@vision4arts.co.uk or visit www.phoenix-resource-centre.org.uk.

Charity helping communities to build a better future

A HARLOW charity has laid the foundations for a number of new relief projects aimed at helping poverty-stricken Haitians get back on their feet.

Build Aid, based at Parndon Mill, was set up in 2005 to provide construction aid and advice in countries that have been devastated by natural disasters or war. Over the years the group has assisted in building and refurbishing vital community facilities such as healthcare clinics and schools in countries including Sri Lanka, Nepal and Ethiopia. It is now turning its attention to Haiti, which is still struggling since suffering a devastating earthquake in 2010.

Trustee Ben Muir, pictured left with his father and Build Aid co-founder Robert, explained: "We are working on schools and orphanages in Haiti, but would also like to undertake the construction of a hospital and community healthcare unit in the rural area of Caprouge which will cost around £300,000.

"Once built, there are partners who will equip the hospital and others who will staff and run the facility."

Ben said that to be able to complete the projects, the charity urgently needed to recruit more volunteers for fundraising activities.

"We want to make an appeal to anyone who thinks they can help us by organising fundraising events or making a donation," said Ben. "Anything from holding a coffee morning to a sponsored sports day at school would be fantastic, with all funds raised going towards helping entire communities to be able to again receive vital medical care and schooling."

For more information about Build Aid visit www.buildaid.org. To offer your services, call (01279) 441911 or email info@buildaid.org.uk.

Leap of faith for a worthy cause

DAREDEVILS with a head for heights are being sought to take to the skies in aid of St Clare Hospice.

Following the huge success of their last organised skydive event, which saw 25 thrillseekers raise more than £12,000, the Hastingwood hospice is making plans for its next extreme challenge. One member of the previous group, Harlow resident Sean Williams, said anyone who took part would not be disappointed.

"The skydive was by far the most amazing thing I have ever done – obviously after getting married," he said. "It was an experience I would not have missed and it had the added bonus of the charity benefiting as well. "If people have the chance to do this they should. It really was fantastic."

The group skydive takes place on Saturday, September 15 at the Sibson Airfield near Peterborough. For more information or to register an interest in taking part, call (01279) 773750 or email fund@stclarehospice.org.uk.

Blood banks in need of deposits

A CALL for more blood donors has been made following a dip in volunteers over the past few weeks.

After experiencing a three per cent drop in donations during the Wimbledon fortnight, NHS Blood and Transplant is urging more people aged 17-65 to help top up blood stocks during the summer months.

NHSBT spokesman Derek Carr said: "Currently 7,000 units of blood are needed every day to help save the lives of sick and injured patients across the country, but blood has a limited shelf life of 35 days for red blood cells and just seven days for platelets.

"Because of this, it is vital that both existing and new blood donors come forward so we can ensure that vital supplies are available for the patients that need them."

The next blood donor sessions in Harlow take place at the Latton Bush Centre on Sunday, August 12. To book a slot, visit www.blood.co.uk or call 0300 1232323.

Hospice lottery

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, July 27 is ticket holder 356817, who lives in Sheering.

£10m research centre plan for Olympics drug test laboratory

Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson described the new centre as the town's Olympic legacy.

"This is confirmation of our reputation as a major location in the 'golden triangle' connecting London, Cambridge and Oxford," he told the Star. "Harlow is proud to have played its part in scientific discovery over many years. Long may this continue with many more scientific discoveries in the town."

"The new lab, together with the Enterprise Zone and the Anglia Ruskin MedTech Campus, puts us on the world map as the location for cutting-edge developments in science and technology."

The £10m project, which was announced yesterday (Wednesday) by Prime Minister David Cameron at a Global Health Policy summit in London, will be co-funded over a five-year period by the Medical Research Council and the National Institute of Health Research.

Opening in 2013, the centre will be operated by a collaboration of academic partners led by Imperial College London. Its facilities and expertise will be available to both universities and private medical firms worldwide.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said the announcement was further proof the Government investing in the town.

"This is incredible news for Harlow," he said. "It cements our place as a centre for scientific excellence and comes on the back of investment into Harlow through the Enterprise Zone and MedTech Campus."

"This is yet another example of strong Government support for Harlow and represents a huge boost for scientific research in our town."

We played our parts in the greatest show on earth . . .

WORKING directly with visionary director Danny Boyle and sitting on a coach next to actor Sir Kenneth Branagh are among the memories one Harlow man who took part in the dazzling Olympics opening ceremony on Friday will cherish for the rest of his life.

Phil Francis (50), of Arkwrights, was lucky enough to secure a role as one of 50 Isambard Kingdom Brunels – the technological genius behind Britain's industrial revolution – after auditioning for a part in the London 2012 spectacular.

Rolling into the auditorium in the same carriage as lead 'Brunel' Sir Kenneth, the electrical engineer and karate teacher said it had been an unforgettable experience.

"I almost feel a bit down now it's all over," said Phil. "It was so amazing."

The atmosphere was incredible and Kenneth Branagh was great, so down to earth."

Father-of-two Phil said that during the rehearsals he was unknowingly choreographed by the man responsible for the spectacle, which was watched by over a billion people worldwide.

"We were working with this man but it wasn't until afterwards that I realised it had actually been Danny Boyle," he said.

"I know it's what everyone says but the whole thing really was a once-in-a-lifetime experience."

Another Harlow resident who took part in the opening ceremony was drummer Will Badham (32),

Residents' anger at alley response

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertessexnews.co.uk

FURIOUS residents have blasted Harlow Council after the authority claimed there was no evidence of anti-social behaviour in an alleyway they are campaigning to have closed.

The Star reported last week that people living near the footpath running between residential properties in Old Orchard and the grounds of Abbotsweld Primary School want it blocked off because it acts as a magnet for vandals, drug addicts and lager louts.

But the council said there had not been enough "firm evidence" of anti-social behaviour to justify the closure of the public right of way, nicknamed "The Black Run" by locals.

This week one Old Orchard resident accused the council of concealing the extent of the problems.

"Every time someone puts in a complaint they send their workforce to go and clean up all the drug wrappers and bottles," said the man, who asked to remain anonymous. "By the time the councillors get there there isn't any evidence left."

"But anyone who lives near the area knows how nasty it is and that a lot of thugs gather there because it is dark.

"My son experienced a serious, random attack whilst walking home yet still nothing has been done."

Passmores Academy headteacher Vic Goddard, whose school used to back onto the alleyway before it relocated to its current site in Tracey's Road last year, branded the council's claims "complete nonsense".

"In the nine years I worked at the old school site that alleyway was a constant baffle," he said.

"Every time I went down there was drug paraphernalia or used condoms and although our children were sometimes responsible for causing trouble they were not always the guilty ones.

"To say there is no evidence is complete nonsense. We used to regularly work with the police community support officers to help clear it all up!"

But Councillor Emma Toal, portfolio holder for youth and citizenship, insisted no evidence of drug use had been found after the council sent a workforce to tidy up the area last week in response to recent complaints.

"The footpath is a formal right of way so there has to be a formal case as to why it should be closed," she said. "Residents need to help us by notifying anti-social behaviour when it happens. They can do that by contacting Harlow Council on (01279) 446655 or the non emergency police number 101."

Inspector Tom Mitchell, of Essex Police, said the area had not been identified as an anti-social behaviour hotspot by the force.

"Essex Police and the Harlow Council's community safety team jointly monitor reports of anti-social behaviour and this area has not been identified as a hotspot area from the recorded reports," he said.

"Police will patrol the area and I would urge all residents to report incidents of anti-social behaviour and crime to the police and Contact Harlow."

It's all kicking off as stars take on police

A STAR-studded football match between a celebrity XI and Harlow Police kicks off on Sunday in aid of the Lupus Five Appeal.

Television presenter Jeff Brazier, actor Danny Dyer and former Big Brother contestants will line up against the local force's football club at The Link Sports and Social Club in Parsloe Road.

Harlow Police FC manager Stuart Burt said: "The celebrity team is very much up for this match and relish playing against the police."

"Although it is on a smaller scale compared with previous years, we are still expecting anywhere between 200 and 400 people to come along and watch."

Tickets are available on the day and cost £2 for adults (£1 for concessions). Kick off is at 3pm.

What will it take to shut The Black Run?

SIR, Further to your front page report about the The Black Run (Star, July 26) I and other residents of Old Orchard have been subjected to many years of anti-social behaviour because of this footpath. Cllr Emma Toal states it is a public right of way but the council told me it's an unadopted footpath and not a right of way. She also states the council requires firm evidence that there are anti-social problems.

She has clearly not been briefed by officers or are they incompetent at keeping records or reported incidents?

I have phoned the council many times about repairing damaged fencing, removing graffiti and needles. I have submitted a petition signed by 128 residents accompanied by seven letters, including one from the head teacher of Abbotswood School, calling for the footpath to be closed.

I attended a localism panel meeting at the Civic Centre in February to discuss the issue and was assured by councillors that our concerns would receive full support. Since then I have received no communication from the council.

We have received full support from our MP yet Harlow Council seems to be totally incapable of taking action. What will it take for Harlow Council to close this footpath? A child injured from a needle?

Wake up councillors and honour your responsibilities under the Big Society and the Localism Act legislation.

Sunbathing Staffies are shown in their true light

SIR, With all the bad press Staffordshire bull terriers and Staffordshire bull terrier crosses are receiving at the moment I loved to see the picture in last week's Star of the two Staffies on the sun loungers. I thought it was great.

I have three Staffordshire bull terriers, two of which are rescue dogs from Mutts In Distress. One we have now adopted and the other is being fostered awaiting a new home. Both had been badly mistreated by previous owners and then dumped.

I was out walking with all three this morning, minding our own business and enjoying the sunshine when we passed a lady walking on the other side of the road with two dogs. They were pulling, barking and growling but my three Staffies did not bat an eyelid and carried on enjoying the walk.

I was so pleased that there were other people around to see this. It just goes to show that it's not Staffies that are always the troublemakers. Any dog that is not trained and socialised and has not got a responsible owner can cause trouble and harm.

The majority of Staffies are truly wonderful little dogs who are loving and loyal to their families and just want to be loved back. They don't want to make into status symbols, paraded around and made to be aggressive or fight.

Thank you for shining some light on what Staffies really do in their spare time and giving them some good press.

Pedestrians made to suffer for lack of parking spaces

SIR, As a follow up to your article in the Star about the squeeze on parking spaces, what about a piece on the effects Harlow's parking problems have on pedestrians?

Pedestrians are being brushed aside as all motorists bleat about having to park somewhere.

Drivers are parking their vehicles on pavements, footpaths and green areas and as a consequence damage these. They are putting pedestrians at risk by forcing them into roads and causing falls.

Sixteen days ago I was seriously injured on a damaged bit of pavement and am still suffering. It necessitated a couple of trips to A&E at Princess Alexandra Hospital.

I am now having to cope with only one functioning arm. My other arm is badly bruised and I have a cracked humerus bone and an assortment of strained tendons.

Thanks a bunch, motorists!

Take a walk around town and see the mess it is in

SIR, I was a Harlow Council housing officer about 20 years ago and one of our many duties was to walk our areas. Anything we did not think was up to scratch we would report, including road kerbs and grass verges.

The town then was clean and litter-free. Sadly that does not apply now – our town is dirty and unkempt.

The so-called gardeners who drive the grass cutting machines need to have lessons. The person that cut the grass verges in Pynest Road and Rectory Field should go back and look at the mess they have left. It looked better when the grass was long. I think I could have done a better job myself.

Come on, council bosses. Leave your warm offices and look around the town and you will see what I am talking about. And while you're at it, check up on your staff to see that they are doing a good job.

Tories' golden legacy is a set of large red flowerpots

SIR, Tory councillor Tony Hall really needs to lie down in a darkened room and breathe deeply. His ill-judged diatribe attacking council leader Mark Wilkinson has left me more open goals than I know what to do with (Letters, July 26).

Every Tory, whether nationally or locally,

Do you have a photograph taken in Harlow that you think is good enough to feature in the Photo of the Week section? If so, we would love to see it.

claims that they've left a 'golden legacy' and yet they get voted out of office by people I presume they think are too stupid to realise how wonderful they are.

He asks for an apology regarding the debt crisis caused by the worldwide recession and yet I don't recall ever hearing an apology for the 3.5 million unemployed or the 15 per cent interest rates that cost people their homes or an NHS rendered unfit for purpose by the last Tory government that this country had to endure.

His Tory council will be remembered solely for spending £65,000 on giant red flower pots. What a golden legacy indeed.

We should be proud of all our school gymnasts

SIR, I was delighted to see the photograph of the successful gymnastics teams from our school, Latton Green, in last week's Star. We are all so proud of their achievements as Essex champions.

However, the photograph also included the Abbottsweld Primary School Year 3/4 gymnastics team, who also represented Essex at the regional finals as runners-up in the county competition.

For Harlow to have three primary school gymnastics teams at the top of the county most definitely deserves recognition. Well done to Latton Green and Abbottsweld.

Cycle paths full of potholes

SIR, If Bradley Wiggins lived in Harlow and used our cycle tracks he could never have made the Tour de France.

Has anybody tried to use the cycle paths in this town? They are full of potholes.

Even the the footpaths are so overgrown that pedestrians have to walk in the cycle tracks to avoid nettles and non-trimmed hedges.

Work starts on £110k refurb of landmark building

AN iconic building which has been part of the Old Harlow landscape since 17th century is being given a new lease of life. Major refurbishment work to the roof, joinery and render of the George Hotel building in Station Road is now under way, with the project due for completion in December.

Once finished, the ground floor of the Grade II listed building is expected to be let for commercial and retail use. The rest will remain residential.

Seventy-five per cent of the £110,000 cost of the work is being funded through the Old Harlow Partnership Scheme, a five-year joint venture between English Heritage and Harlow Council, which will also provide the financial backing for the refurbishment of council-owned homes in the High Street.

The remaining costs are being met by the private owner of the historic building.

Tony Durcan, the council's portfolio holder for FACELIFT: Above, work has started on a £110,000 refurbishment of the George Hotel in Old Harlow. Right, how the building looked around 1960 regeneration & enterprise, said: "Everyone in Harlow knows The George and I'm sure will share with me the pleasure that such a fine building will be given a new lease of life under the regeneration of Old Harlow."

The building first opened as The George public house in 1602. It later became The Great George, a coaching inn serving people travelling from London to Norwich. It wasn't until the early 1900s that the building was renamed The George Hotel. In 1959 it lost its licence as a pub and was converted into a fabric showroom and then a clothes shop before being redeveloped into residential apartments in the 1970s.

Currently the ground floor of the main three-storey block is vacant, with flats on the second and third floors.

Cllr Durcan added: "This is part of the council's commitment in bringing back new aspiration to our local areas.

"Old Harlow is being regenerated with investment in new modern housing at Vince Dunn Mews and community facilities, but we want its special past to also be part of its future."

Ethel was one of new town's early settlers

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ONE of Harlow's first-ever council tenants has died at the age of 102.

Ethel Burchell, of Tany's Dell, passed away peacefully in her sleep in the same home she moved into 61 years ago with husband Leonard and their four children - Len, Dennis, Elaine and Anne.

Grandson John Mann said the family moved to Harlow after their home in Leyton was destroyed in June 1944 during one of the last V1 bomb raids.

They chose the town after Dennis secured an apprenticeship with Dairy Pipelines at the Pinnacles.

"After the war my nan and grandad were brought by coach to Harlow and shown a plot of land where the first part of the new town was being built," said John.

"At that time the Harlow Development Corporation were giving houses

LOVELY LADY: Ethel Burchell celebrating her 100th birthday in 2010

1969, had the longest residency of any council tenant in the town.

"Although we don't know for certain, she was definitely in the first busload and we know there is nobody else alive from her days as they all used to go to the same church," he said.

"I tried to find out from the housing office but they didn't have the records, although they couldn't think of anyone else."

A keen gardener and knitter, Ethel will be fondly remembered by all of her extended family.

"It's hard to keep track of exactly how many of us there are now!" said John. "I know she was a grandmother to 12, great grandmother to over 20 and great, great grandmother to a few more so she has certainly left a lasting legacy!"

"She was really lovely and lived such a good, healthy life that it isn't a sad occasion. It has been nice to reminisce about all the good times."

attack as sexually-motivated.

"The woman put up a struggle and screamed quite loudly during the attack which would have been heard by passers-by," she said.

"This man is likely to live in Harlow so we would urge people to look closely at the e-fit and contact us with a name."

The assailant is described as white, in his late 30s and of large build. At the time he was wearing a full black tracksuit and black trainers.

Anyone with information about the identity of the man should call Harlow police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

E-fit clue to identity of sex attack suspect

POLICE this week released an image of a man suspected of sexually assaulting a woman in Harlow.

The attack took place shortly in the early hours of Sunday, July 15 as the 22-year-old victim walked along a footpath in the Broadfield area.

She was approached by a man who molested her before making his getaway in a dark-coloured estate car.

The woman sustained cuts and bruises during the attack and was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital for treatment.

Park to commemorate the opening weekend of London 2012. With a programme of live music playing throughout the afternoon on the bandstand, the family-friendly event featured activities including five-a-side football, Segway scooter races and a bouncy castle. A total of 23 community and charitable groups also set up stalls across the park to raise awareness of their work in the community. One of the highlights was when Mike Jackson, chairman of Harlow-based charity The President's Sporting Club/Essex Disabled Sports Foundation, shared his experience of being an Olympic flamebearer by letting visitors take pictures with the torch he carried. A programme of hymns, songs and sermons on Olympic themes then followed, including a talk by Harlow paralympian Anne Wafula Strike, before town MP Robert Halfon introduced a flag ceremony featuring 80 people.

Also present at the celebrations was the Bishop of Barking, the Rt Rev David Hawkins.

Organiser and town chaplain Rev Robert Findlay said the day had symbolised Harlow "welcoming the world".

"We were really chuffed with how everything went and were pleased that the weather was good to us as it had been forecast to rain," he said. "There was a good turnout and the wonderful sunny weather enabled the crowds to really enjoy the music from the local musicians and get into the right spirit."

Gambler hanged himself in wood

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MAN with a long history of gambling problems hanged himself after racking up debts, an inquest heard.

The body of Malcolm Foster (55), of Potter Street, Harlow, was found by police on April 12 this year in a wooded area off Church Langley Way following a 31-hour townwide search by officers and volunteers.

A single man who was separated from his partner and children, Mr Foster had not turned up for work and was last seen alive on April 10.

Coroner's officer Paul Gammon told the inquest held at Chelmsford on Thursday, that Mr Foster had a long history of gambling and owed money.

Police found a number of letters regarding his debts.

Mr Gammon added that Mr Foster had also been described as "depressed", although he had not seen a doctor about his health.

In a letter to the coroner, Mr Foster's mother Margaret wrote that her son had some difficulties and was "very down". She said he also had a gambling problem but was a very quiet man who didn't discuss his problems with anyone.

Her partner Derek Harris, who attended the inquest with Mr Foster's brothers, Simon and Paul, told the hearing that Mr Foster had not shown signs of depression and "kept himself to himself".

He added that there was a problem with one of his immediate family which was "the last straw".

"On behalf of the family we would like to thank police for the way they conducted themselves and the sympathy they gave to us and to the volunteer search team which went out looking for him," he added.

The inquest heard the cause of death was asphyxia due to suspension by ligature.

Toxicology tests showed that Mr Foster was also experiencing the side effects of having taken cannabis around the time of his death.

Coroner Caroline Beasley-Murray recorded a verdict of suicide.

Christine casts her expert eye over hospice's 'lovely' gardens

CELEBRITY gardener

Christine Walkden praised the work of green-fingered volunteers during a visit to St Clare Hospice on Friday.

The BBC One Show presenter was taken on a tour of the Hastingwood hospice's two-acre grounds and met the team of volunteer gardeners responsible for their upkeep. "The grounds are a credit to the team," she said afterwards. "It would be a tall order for a professional landscaping company, so the volunteer team do an amazing job."

"The gardens look lovely as you pull in to the hospice entrance and car park."

"I enjoyed my time being shown around and meeting the friendly team who clearly put in a lot of effort and time."

Hospice facilities manager Julie Hewlett, who oversees the gardening work, said the volunteers were grateful for Christine's encouragement.

"It was such a treat to have her come to the hospice. The volunteers spend every Tuesday in the grounds tidying, planting, trimming shrubs and chasing the rabbits!

"It was very special for them to have such words of encouragement and appreciation from a professional gardener and local celebrity. We're all very grateful to Christine who we know has a very busy calendar."

HEALTH CHECK

in partnership with the PAH NHS Trust

The dangers of soaking up the sun

THE sun may have finally put his hat on but, much more importantly, so should you!

It may not be cool to be pale or tan-less but it certainly proves better for your health. Recent research tells us that sunburn can double your risk of getting skin cancer.

It's a common misconception that a tan means your skin is healthy. The truth is a tan is actually a sign of the skin being damaged by ultraviolet radiation.

When cells are damaged by the sun, melanin rushes to the surface to provide protection against the next blast. So while many of us think we are building up a nice healthy tan by getting in 20 minutes or so a day, your skin is in actual fact darkening in response to damage on top of damage. The sun gives out ultraviolet

(UV) radiation which is made up of three types of rays:

UVA - causes wrinkles

UVB - sunburn and skin cancer

UVC - can't penetrate the ozone layer

While this country has hardly enjoyed a sun-filled summer, it is important not to rush out when the rain does stop and lie in the sun with only a few items of clothing to save your modesty...soaking up as much heat as possible.

Take it easy, enjoy the weather and avoid the side-effects of burns.

The best way to prevent skin cancer is to avoid too much time in the sun. To help keep you and your family safe, remember some simple sun tips:

Take cover - stay out of the sun during peak hours (10am-2pm) when the sun is at its strongest.

Choose the right SPF - not all SPF sunscreens offer protection against UVA and UVB rays. Look for sunscreens with an SPF of at least 30

Keep reapplying sunscreen - at least every two hours if you're outside

And remember, drink plenty of water to avoid overheating

If you would like more information on avoiding skin cancer or, should you stay in the sun too long, treatment for skin burns, visit www.nhs.uk.

Kirstie makes her TV debut in EastEnders

A YOUNG actress from Harlow will be gracing the screens of millions across the country tonight when she makes her debut TV appearance on EastEnders.

Despite only finishing drama school a year ago, Kirstie Brough has already landed her first big break as homeless character Betty in the country's favourite soap opera.

The 20-year-old, who lives at Moorfields and works in the box office at The Playhouse, said she found out she had secured the part just hours after auditioning in front of the show's producers and director.

"I knew I was up against quite a few other girls and was the first person to audition so really didn't get my hopes up too much," said Kirstie.

"They didn't muck around, though, and it was later that evening while at work that I received the call to say I had got the part. I was so excited!"

Kirstie completed a year's intensive course at the American Musical Theatre Academy last year before being signed up by an agency. The part in EastEnders will be her first television role.

"Without giving too much away, my part is centred around the return of Ian Beale, who went missing from Albert Square a few months ago," she said. "I play Betty, a homeless chick who let's just say causes a bit of trouble for Ian!"

Although the character was only commissioned as a one-off part, Kirstie said there is a chance of her becoming a more permanent fixture on the Square.

"The story has been left open so there is always a chance that Betty might make another appearance at a later date," she said. "It will depend on the response she receives."

She added: "Whatever happens filming the scenes was such a fantastic experience, the best days of my life. Television is definitely the industry I want to be in."

Cash machine crooks thwarted by woman's phone call to police

FRAUDSTERS attempting to 'skim' an elderly man's debit card at a cash machine were foiled when a Good Samaritan stepped in and alerted the police.

The incident happened at NatWest in The Rows, Harlow, when a woman noticed two men watching the victim attempt to withdraw cash from the hole-in-the-wall dispenser.

When she approached the man she discovered his card had been retained by a suspect device attached to the card slot. She immediately called police and the device was seized.

Crime reduction officer Graham Anthony said: "Fortunately, the victim did not suffer any financial loss. It was thanks to the quick-thinking actions of this woman that prevented a crime."

"I would like to remind all ATM users to be alert as to who may be around you when using any cash machine and when keying in your pin number use your hand to shield it from view."

"Most banks now display screen warnings urging users to make sure that nobody can see their PIN entered. It is also important not to allow yourself to be distracted when waiting for your card and cash to be dispensed."

One very good reason for not talking in class

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

ONE former pupil's cherished memories of her years at Tany's Dell Primary School make for interesting reading this week.

Teresa Price, of Milwards, Harlow, got in touch after we printed these photographs and a request by the school for ex-students to get in touch with their stories.

"I was there between 1971 and 1977 and loved it," she writes. "My first teacher was called Mrs Hardy but I think she had to leave mid-term through illness."

"I remember having to miss a whole six weeks of school in her year as I had whooping cough. She had the whole class make me 'get well' cards and I got a small box of Maltesers, which I was very happy about."

"I loved being in the juniors with Mr Winder, Mr Sing – a Canadian exchange student teacher – Miss Valentine, Mrs Joseph and Mr Miller, who would drop a very large book on your head if you talked in class!"

"I also remember we had a 'deaf unit' in the juniors section and if we were very well behaved we were allowed to go and help out there. The hearing aids back then were huge and you wore the battery pack on your chest."

But not everyone took to life at Tany's Dell. "When my little brother started in the infants I was in my last year in the juniors and at break I called over to him to see if he was okay," she explained. "It was a big mistake!"

"He ran for me crying and screaming and the break time assistant had to lift him up, put him under her arm and take him inside!"

I later found out after school they had to give him a snack to keep him quiet"

She added: "My favourite time was when the daddy longlegs would cover the outside hall windows and when the grass on the field was cut and we would all build forts and have grass fights at break.

"We would play marbles by the side of the bike shed and do handstands on the patch of grass between the infants and juniors school. I could go on and on but I won't."

Can you shed light on the history of Seeleys?

DO you have any information about Seeleys, the imposing 19th century building which once stood in London Road, Harlow?

Harlow Museum heritage officer David Devine has made the request on behalf of one of his volunteers who is currently researching the history of the property for a project.

"One of my volunteers, Daniella Pelka, has been doing research on various old or vanished buildings in the Harlow area and this particular one is on her list," he explained.

"Although we have some information it is always worth enquiring as to whether there is anything or anyone out there in the town who knows or can add additional information for us."

According to an article in the Harlow Citizen to coincide with the building's demolition in 1964, the house was constructed in the mid-1800s by the family of Rev Frederick Edwards, then a minister of Fore Street Baptist Church.

Though known amongst locals as a 'baptist manse', it was actually Mr Edwards' home long after his retirement, with subsequent ministers having to live in rented accommodation in the town.

The article explains that Seeleys later became Harlow Development Corporation's estates and social development department offices, and later still was occupied by the Labour Exchange and other Government departments.

Mr Devine added: "It would be good if we can find more information and/or reminiscences from anyone who knew the place first-hand."

Travellers illegally camped on a children's play area were moved on by police this week . . . but not very far. The group had originally angered local residents by pitching up on playing fields near Burnett Park. Day of sport is fun for all

HUNDREDS got into the Olympic spirit at a sports day in Harlow for people with disabilities and special needs.

The All Abilities Fun Day, now in its third year, aims to inspire disabled people to take up an active lifestyle and promotes a more inclusive sporting community.

It is organised by the All Abilities Sports and Leisure group in conjunction with staff at Stewards School.

Those taking part had their pick from a full programme of activities including wheelchair basketball, swimming, trampolining and a bouncy castle.

Representatives from Passmores Academy's Lupus Five appeal were also on hand to help organise different events and take part in a special triathlon at the end.

"Every year we've put on this event the turnout has got bigger and bigger which is brilliant," said Neil Mann, chairman of All Abilities Sports and Leisure.

"It is a great day that gives those with disabilities or special needs the opportunity to try out new sports. Everyone had a lot of fun."

All aboard the board

MEASURING a whopping 6.7 metres in length and weighing more than 40 stone, it's safe to say this is probably the UK's biggest skateboard!

It took a team of six engineers 300 hours to build the wacky sculpture, which can hold up to 30 children at once and weighs as much as a baby African elephant.

The project was dreamt up by a sweet manufacturer after a survey found that two-thirds of youngsters said they would only watch the Olympics when more extreme street sports were included.

Hundreds of schoolchildren across the UK entered a competition to design the oversized board, with the winning entry submitted by 10-year-old Kate Emsley from Worcester.

The board was unveiled in Mile End, London, last week but has now been moved to its new permanent home at Britain's largest indoor skate park in Liverpool.

British under-14 skateboard champ Matty Carlisle told reporters:

"This is the most awesome board I've ever seen and I think it's fantastic that so many kids are keen to see skateboarders compete on such a grand stage."

"There has been a real buzz surrounding the Olympics over the past couple of years but as far as I'm concerned the debate on whether the sport should be included in the games is over. I want in for 2016."

Stake your claim to an acting role in Dracula

ASPIRING actors looking for a part they can really sink their teeth into are being invited to audition for a chilling new adaptation of Bram Stoker's classic horror story Dracula. With 12 roles to fill, Harlow Theatre Company is hoping to find a charismatic male lead to play the bloodthirsty Count and is also on the lookout for several strong actresses to play the vampire's romantic interests.

Director Martin Colton, pictured above, said: "I want to be very daring in this show, not only stripping the story back to its core elements, but also the theatre back to its main structure to give the play a stark but iconic look."

"With a piece like Dracula, getting the right actor in the lead role is very important as the Count has to be charismatic and terrifying at the same time."

"Also we need strong actresses to play the romantic leads, so getting the right cast is vital to the success of the show."

The audition is being held at Victoria Hall Theatre on Sunday, August 12 from 6.30pm. For more information, log on to www.harlowtheatrecompany.org.uk.

That's entertainment!

RIB-tickling comedy, genre-hopping musicianship and gravity-defying dance along with provocative drama, bombastic cabaret and breathtaking ballet are among the highlights of Harlow Playhouse's new season of entertainment.

The autumn/winter line-up was unveiled this week – and audiences certainly won't be disappointed.

Kicking off on September 23 with a street dance spectacular from resident dance school Hip Hop Pop, the first week alone crams in drama (Patrick Marber's Dealer's Choice), mediumship (celebrity psychic Tony Stockwell), ballet (Ballet Cymru's production of The Tempest) and comedy (rising star Shappi Khorsandi).

Drama fans will again be spoilt for choice, with the Playhouse offering its 3-for-2 drama ticket on productions including Shakespeare classics Romeo & Juliet (October 11-12) and A Midsummer Night's Dream (February 27), author/comedian Johnny Tait's deliciously dark thriller Conscience (October 19), and acclaimed screenwriter Eric Chappell's hilarious Father's Day (November 22).

By CHRIS MOSS

And there'll be plenty more to laugh about as the season progresses, from the madcap genius of stand-up legend Bobby Davro (October 19) and panel show greats Sean Hughes (November 22) and Lee Hurst (March 23) to sets from hotly-tipped breakthrough acts Richard DeDomenici (October 3), Imran Yusuf (November 9) and Sean Precious (March 17).

A packed programme of music also promises something for all tastes, with tributes to Abba (September 30), The Shadows (October 7), Bon Jovi (October 20) and The Beatles (March 21) featuring alongside gigs from platinum-selling pop legends The Searchers (November 23), soul superstars The Drifters (March 8), chart-topping singer Elkie Brooks (November 15) and boisterous bar-room Rockney duo Chas

'n' Dave (March 13-14).

Other highlights include the breathtaking physical theatre of Ockham's Razor (February 5-7), stomach churning cabaret from The Circus Of Horrors (February 12) and the return of bone-crunching grapplefest Wrestle Force (October 6 and February 24), while youngsters can party with their favourite characters from Channel 5 show Milkshake! (September 29), sing along to their favourite tunes with the cast of High School Rocks (October 13) and reach for the skies with the Playhouse's biggest Christmas panto yet – Jack & The Beanstalk (December 7 - January 6).

Theatre manager Scott Ramsey said: "This new bumper season offers a programme that's as diverse as it is entertaining. Look out for some great offers on drama and dance productions. The centerpiece of the season will be our spectacular family pantomime Jack and the Beanstalk, which stars Pui from CBeebies' Show Me Show Me. It promises to be our biggest panto to date."

Talking teddy is more than make bear-lieve

certificate 15, 1h46m

THE teddy bear is a potent symbol of childhood innocence. But in Ted it is also the focal point for a series of deranged and debauched misadventures.

Child and toy become inseparable in this deliciously foul-mouthed comedy that employs the magic of digital trickery to bring to life a stuffed bear as a buddy for a lonely boy.

It's a simple premise, essentially a live action version of Toy Story albeit with the eponymous bear accepted as a talking, skirt-chasing entity by everyone he encounters.

Writer-director Seth MacFarlane, creator of the irreverent animated comedies Family Guy and American Dad!, has great fun with his real and virtual characters, taking verbal pot shots at Susan Boyle, Taylor Lautner and Superman actor Brandon Routh in a script that gleefully sticks up two fingers to political correctness.

It's Christmas 1985 and a boy called John Bennett (Bretton Manley) stares adoringly at his favourite teddy and whispers: "I wish you could talk. Then we could be friends forever and ever."

Just at that moment a shooting star passes overhead and the next morning John introduces the exceedingly animated Ted (voiced by MacFarlane) to his dumbfounded parents (Ralph Garman, Alex Borstein).

The film then fast-forwards to the present day. John (Mark Wahlberg) now works for a car rental company and has a beautiful girlfriend, Lori (Mila Kunis).

When their four-year anniversary dinner ends in a fractious discussion about priorities, John responds by asking his best buddy to move out of the apartment and stand on his own two paws.

Ted has a generous smattering of belly laughs, although some of the best moments have been repeated ad nauseum in trailers. Wahlberg is perfectly suited to his role as a goofy hopeless romantic and screen chemistry with Kunis simmers, if it never quite boils.

Digital effects are excellent, seamlessly melding the bear with live action in hare-brained action sequences, including a hysterical hotel room punch-up and a climactic race around a sporting venue that may have grown men choking back tears.

And a running gag about a classic 1980 film results in a wonderful cameo to fan the flames of our wistful nostalgia.

DIARY OF A WIMPY KID: DOG DAYS
certificate U, 1h34m

WISE-cracking tyke Greg Heffley (Zachary Gordon) is looking forward to spending the summer playing video games on the television.

However, his mother Susan (Rachael Harris) has other ideas and encourages her husband Frank (Steve Zahn) to engage with Greg, enrolling the lad in the Wilderness Explorers so they can spend quality time together in the great outdoors.

Not surprisingly Greg is not so keen and lies about landing a job at the local country club, where he hopes to win the affections of pretty classmate Holly (Peyton List), who gives tennis lessons to local kids.

In order to impress Holly, Greg suggests a boys versus girls doubles match with loveable best friend Rowley (Robert Capron) and arch-nemesis Patty (Laine MacNeil).

WIN

Talking Ted, T-shirt and cap PLUS two tickets to the film

TO celebrate the release of Ted, Cineworld Harlow has teamed up with the Star to give you the chance to win some exclusive merchandise and tickets to see the film in this online competition.

Family Guy creator Seth MacFarlane brings his boundary-pushing brand of humour to the big screen for the first time as writer, director and the voice of Ted.

In the live action/CG-animated comedy, he tells the story of John Bennett (Mark Wahlberg), a grown man who must deal with the cherished teddy bear who came to life as the result of a childhood wish and has refused to leave his side ever since.

This week we are giving you the chance to win a talking Ted, T-shirt and baseball cap as well as a pair of tickets to see the film. Five runners-up will receive a pair of tickets.

To stand a chance of winning, all you have to do is answer this question:

Who wrote and directed Ted?

To enter, visit our website at www.harlowstar.co.uk and click on the Competitions link under the 'Newspaper' tab. Be sure to enter 'Star Ted' in the competition line or your entry will be discounted.

The closing date for entries is noon on Monday, August 6.

DR SEUSS' THE LORAX Twelve-year-old Ted Wiggins (voiced by Zac Efron) lives in the carefully controlled utopia of Thneed-ville where town mayor Aloysius O'Hare (Rob Riggle) provides the residents with all they need including blissful sunshine - everything except for real plants, which are manufactured in a factory. When girl next door Audrey tells him she wants to see a real tree growing in the backyard of her home, Ted sets off on a mission during which he meets forest guardian The Lorax (Danny DeVito) who tells him the mayor doesn't want real trees restored to Thneed-ville because the miracle of photosynthesis would jeopardise his lucrative oxygen supply business. Aware of the perils that lay ahead, Ted resolves to bring green back to Thneed-ville and win Audrey's heart.

THE DARK KNIGHT RISES The Caped Crusader is a fading memory and crippled billionaire Bruce Wayne (Christian Bale) has become a virtual recluse, holed up in his manor with trusty butler Alfred (Michael Caine). But then an encounter with wily cat burglar Selina Kyle (Anne Hathaway) draws Bruce into the orbit of hulking terrorist Bane (Tom Hardy) who plans to destroy the city. As Bane's uprising gathers momentum, Bruce turns to technical genius Lucius Fox (Morgan Freeman) and loyal board member Miranda Tate (Marion Cotillard) to protect his beloved Wayne Enterprise but realises he must don his cowl one final time to save the residents of Gotham.

MAGIC MIKE Adam (Alex Pettyfer) lands a temporary construction job alongside nice guy Mike (Channing Tatum) but on his very first day he is sacked. As he roams the town looking for work, Adam again crosses paths with Mike who introduces him to the local male nude venue bar, where delirious women thrust dollar bills at gym-toned Adonis. It transpires that Mike is the club's star turn. A mishap affords Adam a chance to perform on stage and before long he becomes a favourite of the female clientele, but adulation comes at a price.

ICE AGE 4: CONTINENTAL DRIFT Scrat the squirrel sets off a tectonic chain reaction that threatens to destroy an entire continent. Manny the woolly mammoth, Diego the sabre-toothed tiger (Denis Leary), Sid the sloth (John Leguizamo) and Sid's grandmother (Wanda Sykes) are swept out to sea on an ice floe. While Manny's soulmate Ellie (Queen Latifah) shepherds the land animals towards a bridge that is the only escape route from the rapidly collapsing island, Manny and his chums drift helplessly away and come under attack from seafaring pirates led by prehistoric ape Captain Gutt (Peter Dinklage).

THE AMAZING SPIDER-MAN High school student Peter Parker (Andrew Garfield) is haunted by the disappearance of his parents (Campbell Scott, Embeth Davidtz). He lives with his uncle Ben (Martin Sheen) and aunt May (Sally Field) and contends with all the usual growing pains, including persistent bullying from jock classmate Flash Thompson (Chris Zylka) and a tender romance with fellow student Gwen Stacy (Emma Stone). But soon after he is bitten by a genetically modified arachnid that imbues him with superhuman powers he discovers evidence linking his parents' disappearance to his father's business partner, Dr Curt Connors (Rhys Ifans). Little does Peter realise that Connors also has a secret alter ego: reptilian menace The Lizard.

Buying on Instinct

Recent research concurs with our own view that most buyers buy on instinct, typically viewing their eventual home no more than twice before making a decision to buy.

Buying a property certainly appears to be a decision of the heart over the head. In other words, the 'I'll know it when I see it' approach turns out to be quite reliable.

Despite the detail offered about their property by sellers when they instruct us to market their home, buyers actually register their preferences with a very broad brush indeed. They seldom, if ever, ask what type of boiler is at the property, or if there is a double wash basin in the bathroom or an aerial point in the sitting room before viewing it. These are small details which have little bearing on whether the buyer will find the property to be a suitable home.

Once certain non-negotiables, such as price, minimum amount of accommodation, and the general location of the property have been satisfied, buyers are primarily influenced by 'How does it feel?' and 'Could we be happy here?'. These elements are intangible, but if the right button has been pushed, virtually nothing will stop the buyer from wanting to buy the property.

Of course, the brain then tries to overrule the heart, forcing the buyer to revisit the property, just to make sure. During this second viewing the buyer will take a more detailed look at the property, and may take more notice of the type of fittings and the structural condition.

The brain will usually decide whether to support the heart solely on the strength of this second visit and the buyer will either make an offer there and then, or decide against. Our job is to facilitate the right decision.

So sellers would be well advised to remember they are selling a home, not just a building, and work with their agent to promote the lifestyle benefits of their property – not just the features.

Scrap

End of the road
for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

August Student Special Buy a Diploma, Get a Laptop

Helen L

I'm looking to go travelling before Uni and Pitman's Microsoft Office diploma with touch typing skills will help me earn and save money to fund the trip. Plus at Uni the skills will be invaluable. But most importantly, I'm looking to get into a tough market (fashion) and these fundamental office skills will help me to get my foot in the door.

Laura P

I'm not sure what I want to do. Uni is still a possibility but with a Pitman Exec PA diploma I have options. A job in the City with the chance to earn good money and build a career. Whichever choice I take, I will have the vocational skills to complement my academic achievements and in a tough market give me an edge over the competition.

Helen C

My story is almost identical to Helen Ls! I'm travelling to Australia and want to work and extend my trip for as long as possible. The Executive PA diploma will be of great value both in Sydney, at Uni, for getting holiday work and, like Helen, I'm looking for a career in a niche market (production/theatre) and may need to start in an admin role.

All three of our new students have identified the benefits of complementing their academic skills with relevant vocational skills. Drop in at any time in August to talk with Amanda and find out more about our diplomas and courses and how Pitman can help you build the right mix of skills for a successful future.

Call Amanda on 01279 466 200 to arrange a meeting and take your first steps to a brighter future.

Back in the Nick of time

ALL-rounder Nicky Baxter is set play for Harlow in their home match against Hainault & Clayhall this Saturday.

Baxter, 28, who has been working in Newfoundland, Canada since last September, was due to arrive yesterday (Wednesday).

Baxter was last year's Player of the Year.

Harlow captain Luke Heskett said: "Nicky Baxter is returning to England for the rest of the summer from Canada and we cannot wait to have him back in the side. He has played out in Canada."

Meanwhile, Harlow gave a debut to all-rounder Michael Garside, who scored 11 in their home victory over Loughton five days ago.

Garside (21) originally comes from Lancashire and has spent the last four years in Spain and played cricket for the Spanish national team. He now lives in Harlow.

Heskett added: "It was a great victory and Ahmed was brilliant. The young lads at the end held their nerve superbly."

● IT was a draw in the annual President's Cup as Harlow (119; Michael Garside 36) played neighbours Harlow Tn (70-4).

Bad light and rain halted play.

ALL Lit Up: Sam Watts carries the Olympic torch last month

Athlete will treasure carrying 2012 torch

ATHLETE Sam Watts is hitting some excellent form at the tail end of the season – but nothing will take away the memory of carrying the Olympic torch.

Harlow-born Watts carried the torch along Stansted Road in Bishop's Stortford on July 7 – and then had days of youngsters knocking at his door to have their photo taken with it.

"I really enjoyed it – it was once in a lifetime. It's just a shame it won't happen again! There were kids knocking on my door all evening asking for a picture with the torch," said Watts.

"I didn't expect everyone to be so excited about it, not just where I live but up and down the country. Everyone's getting behind it."

However, the 20-year-old sprinter says being a torch bearer has inspired him as he targets a place at the Olympics in Brazil in 2016 – and he's hoping next time he's with the torch it will be in the Maracanã Stadium in Rio.

"It was a great feeling to be carrying the torch and it just made me feel that one day maybe I'll have the same crowd cheering me but at the Olympics themselves," said Watts.

"It was such a special occasion because not a lot of people get the chance to do it and I take confidence from the fact I was chosen."

Meanwhile, Watts will be keeping a close eye on events at Stratford as his close friend Adam Gemili tackle Usain Bolt and Co in the 100 metre heats starting on Saturday.

Gemili, who was playing for Thurrock in the same division as Bishop's Stortford FC a couple of years ago, has taken the GB athletics scene by storm.

He finished second behind Dwain Chambers in the 100m final at the Olympic trials before breaking the World Junior Championships record with a personal best of 10.05secs.

"A lot of people are seeing Adam doing so well and saying maybe I should be doing the same but I'm sticking to my plan. I'm not going for success now but later," said Watts.

"Since I started my plan has always been to get to 2016 – I try not to let what anyone else does bother me."

And Watts believes a medal is not beyond the realm of possibilities for Gemili. "Some people have been pointing out that Dwain Chambers and Mark Lewis-Francis came up being great juniors but it didn't happen for them at senior level."

"You don't know what the future holds and it could go either way for Adam – he could never run well again like some of the seniors or he could break the world record, and I hope it's the latter."

Watts clocked 21.08 seconds when he won the A-String 200m in a British Athletics League meeting for Woodford Green with Essex Ladies at Barnet Copthall on Saturday.

Star Olympics diary

THE eyes of the world will be on Harlow's Andrew Osagie as he makes his Olympics debut on Monday.

50m rifle prone tomorrow (Friday) from 9am and then the 50m three position on 9am.

He will line up alongside the world's finest in his 800 metre heat at Stratford. On the same day, Harlow's James Huckle (21) competes in the 50m three positions rifle event at Woolwich. Huckle will compete in the GB hockey player Chloe Rogers, who was born in Harlow, faces Belgium today (Thursday (August 2) at 7pm in the third group match. The team then face China at 4pm on Saturday before their final match at 7pm on Monday against the Netherlands.

Bauer marches fourth in UK rankings

THREE first spots and a second place were gained by two Harlow Athletic Club members at the Eastern Veterans Athletic Championships. Sunday's event at Sandy in Bedfordshire saw Dave Bauer win the discus with a season's best throw of 39.25m. This throw moved Bauer from 6th to 4th spot in the UK men's 45 age group.

Bauer also won the shot put (10.38m) and was second in the hammer (32.60m).

Meanwhile, Harlow's Dawn Jones won the high jump (1.40m) in the women's 40 age group category.

On Saturday, Harlow Athletic Club clinched the Southern Men's League division two north title when they won their last meeting. It meant Harlow gained promotion after winning all five meetings this season.

For a full report and photos see the Star next week.

Meanwhile, Bauer, a Great Britain Masters gold-medal winning discus thrower, is relishing his trip to the Olympic Stadium on Monday – when he can watch his favourite event as well as Harlow pal Andrew Osagie run in the 800 metres.

Bauer is looking forward to seeing GB discus hopeful Lawrence Okoye in action and he competes on the same day as Osagie's heat on Monday.

Harlow Athletic Club

men's captain Bauer believes Londoner Okoye could surprise a few people and even has a chance of winning a medal.

Bauer watched Okoye in action at Crystal Palace recently with his wife Catherine.

"He threw 65m out of the sector with a 64m out of the sector at the Crystal Palace Grand Prix. If he had kept the 65m one in, he would have won it! It was won with 64.85m by Gerd Kanter."

Even if Okoye does not win a medal in London, Bauer believes there is much more to come from him. "Exceptional talent. Someone like him will only come along once in 25 to 30 years in the UK if you are lucky. He is still so young and inexperienced at the event, he really could be trying to beat the World Record in a few years' time!" Bauer added. "I really hope he sticks with it and doesn't go back to rugby as he could be a future world star at the event for many years like an Alekna or Gerd Kanter. "On his day he is capable of a medal, no doubt. If I had to stick my neck out I would say that would be asking too much at this stage, but who knows? He's thrown the British record twice!

"He will need a minimum of 65m to get third place or could be more if the weather is kind. Seventy to 72m could win it if the conditions are as good as they can be. I expect it to be won in around 68-69m, I hope it's more though. It could be one of the best field events there will be, in my view."

Then all eyes will be on Osagie. "Me and Cath have tickets for the discus qualifying competition and men's 800m qualifying. Come on Andy Osagie!"

GB ace switched on for Olympics

PLAYSTATION game Call of Duty kept Old Harlow's Team GB marksman James Huckle in tip-top shape to hone his skills ahead of the London Olympics.

The 21 year-old made his Olympic debut on Monday in the 10m air rifle event at the Royal Artillery Barracks in Woolwich (see back page).

And Huckle says there is nothing better to keep him at the top of his game than a shoot-em-up with his mates.

"We play Call of Duty and games like that," he revealed.

"My friends think 'he must be really good at that' – and it's a different skill but there are a lot of things you can take from that – the discipline side, the psychological side, the fact I'm super-competitive."

"From the technical side it's not the same at all – but I can't lose to my friends so secretly I've got good at those games."

British Shooting chiefs have set a modest target of one medal from the London Games as they attempt to end a drought stretching back to 2000.

Richard Faulds, a gold medalist at those Sydney Games, is competing again but Britain's best chance is expected to lie with his fellow competitor in the double trap, world number one Peter Wilson.

Yet former Mark Hall School and Harlow College student Huckle broke British shooting legend Malcolm Cooper's 12-year record in the three positions event in 2011 and knows another personal best could see him spring a surprise.

"This is the time to do a PB, this is what we all try to peak for, performance wise," he added.

"We know what it's all about, it's the biggest prize that we've all been working towards, the biggest sporting event in the world so putting a PB in would be my goal, for sure."

Huckle, who scooped four medals at the 2010 Commonwealth Games in India, is competing at the Olympics for the very first time.

Rogers and GB look to semis

CHLOE Rogers and her Great Britain hockey team-mates will be looking for a more polished display when they take on Belgium in their third group game today (start 7pm).

A victory over Belgium will move GB closer towards gaining a semi-final spot.

GB looked shaky defensively on Tuesday, letting South Korea come back from 3-1 down to 3-3 before the hosts pulled through to win 5-3.

The hosts' fifth goal came from 27-year-old Harlow-born Rogers, who exploited a goalkeeping error and controlled the ball calmly before poking home on 62 minutes.

Earlier, she played her part when she helped GB beat Japan 4-0 in the opening group game on Sunday. She showed brilliant skills to play a part in setting up the second goal for the home nation.

Rogers also went close to scoring in the second half.

their progress over all the group games as the GB women's hockey team seeks to get into the semi-finals. From Monday, we'll bring you stories on Harlow's Andrew Osagie, who will be competing in the men's 800m heats as attention turns to the track.

Heartbreak for Huckle

"After the four-round mark is when you have to start to dig your heels in and 397 was a great start, but I just fired a few bad shots," said Huckle.

"You have to keep yourself disciplined and without a doubt I tried my best and I'll take a lot from it."

Italian Niccolo Campriani and Romanian Alin George Moldoveanu topped the morning heats with 599 out of 600.

Huckle was 24th overall. He scored 593 points with 42 inner 10s.

In the final on Monday lunch time, Moldoveanu captured the gold medal with a score of 702.1, just ahead of Campriani on 701.5.

The bronze medal went to India's Gagan Narang with 701.1 points.

Huckle, who was watched by his parents Rosemary and Nigel Huckle, was the sole Brit in this category.

Osagie ready for Olympic test

Indoor Championships in Turkey this year broke his personal best less than a fortnight ago, clocking 1 minute 44.48 seconds.

But he will have to lower his best even further if he is to beat World Record holder Kenyan David Rudisha.

Osagie's coach Craig Winrow told the Star: "Andrew's last few weeks of training after Monaco [at the Diamond League meeting on July 20] have been great.

"He is now tapering down and looking forward to the heat on the 6th.

"He has had a brilliant year so far and hoping to take one step further than last year and make the Olympic final. He couldn't be in a better position than he is now and is very confident."

UK Athletics chief Charles Van Commenee has set Team GB a GREAT HOPE: Andrew Osagie target of eight track and field medals at the Games.

GSK tested China star

THE Olympic spotlight turned to Harlow this week after allegations that China's teenage swimming sensation Ye Shiwen, pictured right, was a drugs cheat.

However, tests carried out at pharmaceutical giants Glaxo Smith Kline's base at the science park on the Pinnacles estate in Harlow confirmed Shiwen's sample did not contain any illegal substances.

British Olympic Chairman Lord Colin Moynihan said Ye Shiwen had passed a drugs test and was "clean".

He added that she deserved recognition for her talent.

The Chinese swimmer had smashed her personal best (PB) by at least five seconds in the 400m individual medley and recorded a new World Record of 4 mins 28.43 secs.

Senior US coach John Leonard said her performance was "disturbing".

He said it reminded him of the East German women swimmers in the 1980s who were doping on a systematic basis.

"History in our sport will tell you that every time we see something, and I will put quotation marks around this 'unbelievable', history shows us that it turns out later on there was doping involved," he told the UK's Guardian newspaper.

However, Shiwen has strongly defended herself and denied that she would ever use banned substances.

The Olympic movement is determined to improve the efficiency of drug testing in a bid to root out drug cheats.

More than three times as many tests will be carried out at this Olympics in Harlow, compared to the Sydney Olympics 12 years ago.

Scientists from King's College, London have been based at the Harlow plant since the spring, and have been carrying out scores of tests every day during the Olympics.

They will be based there throughout the Olympics and the Paralympic Games in September.

THE pre-season opposition for Harlow Town steps up in intensity in the next week.

The Hawks have now beaten three teams from lower leagues in the last nine days.

Danny Chapman's men will take on Whitstable Town at home this Saturday before hosting Blue Square Bet North neighbours Bishop's Stortford on Tuesday.

Harlow's third friendly at Sawbridgeworth on Tuesday saw them go ahead after 16 minutes.

Reece Dobson fired in a fierce shot from a Mark Taylor cross.

The Harlow lead was doubled on 73 minutes. A Taylor free-kick from the left appeared to go in off a Sawbridgeworth player.

Chapman gave a start to central defender Liam Thomas who has returned to the club.

Leisurezone trip avoids congestion headache for German team!

BADMINTON hit the headlines for all the wrong reasons this week when Olympic teams from China and Indonesia were accused of deliberately losing at Wembley Arena to avoid a tough draw. It was a far cry to the previous week when Germany's national squad took part in a relaxed training session at the Harlow Leisurezone.

World No.16 and German Olympic badminton hope Marc Zweibler was delighted to come to Harlow last Thursday – just to avoid the awful traffic in London!

Former European Junior Champion Zweibler joined the rest of the German national badminton squad who spent two hours training at the multi-million pound complex. Zweibler revealed how it had taken the team two hours to cross London from the Olympic Village to get to the training facilities near Wembley Arena, where the badminton is taking place.

Zweibler, who won his first group match against Mohamed Rasheed

(Maldives), spoke to Star

Sports Editor Alan Scott after his training session at the Second Avenue complex. He said: "We are enjoying practising here. In the Olympic Village, the training is quite far away and there was a lot of traffic."

"It took us two hours to get there. We are really glad to have the chance to come here."

Only six Germans are competing in the Olympics badminton.

Zweibler was Germany's only representative in the men's singles.

The German team also had mixed doubles duo Michael Fuchs and Birgit Michels, who caused an upset by ending the Olympic hopes of GB's Chris Adcock and Imogen Bankier on Sunday.

The World Championship runners-up lost 11-21 21-17 21-14 to Fuchs and Michels. But Michels and Fuchs went out in the quarter-finals, losing 15-21 9-21 to Indonesia's Ahmad and Natsir.

Germany also had entries in the women's singles and the men's doubles.

Julianne Schenk went out in the last 16. Ingo Kindervater and Johannes Schoettler failed to progress from the group stages.

But great hope Zweibler, who won both his group matches, was set to face Chinese Jin Chen in the last 16 last night (Wednesday). He confessed it would be tough for Germany to bring home a badminton Olympic medal for the first time in the nation's history.

"We have never had a medal before with the German badminton team. That's our big goal. The chances are slim but nothing is impossible."

"In the last one or two years we have shown we can beat the top players. We have had a period without many tournaments but we have prepared well. It has been a hard task, but we have put a lot into our game and into the court. The feeling is really good."

Prior to the training session at Leisurezone, the squad was filmed by German TV.

A party of 15 made the trip across to Harlow from the Olympic Village in Stratford.

Heartbreak for Huckle

GB ace targets other events after 10m rifle blow

MARKSMAN James Huckle is determined to battle on in his quest for a medal at the London Olympics – after missing out in the 10m air rifle event.

The 21-year-old Old Harlow shooter was just three points off qualifying in Monday's heat – and earned praise from the Duke of Kent, watching the action at the Royal Artillery Barracks in Woolwich.

His Royal Highness was heard to remark: "He's shooting very well, isn't he?"

Huckle can now look forward to the 50m prone event tomorrow (Friday) before his favoured 50m three positions rifle category on Monday.

"Three positions is the event I actually qualified for so in a way this [10m air rifle] is just an extra event. It's been great to start off, get the experience and the feel for how the events are going to go. It stands me in good stead for my three positions," he said.

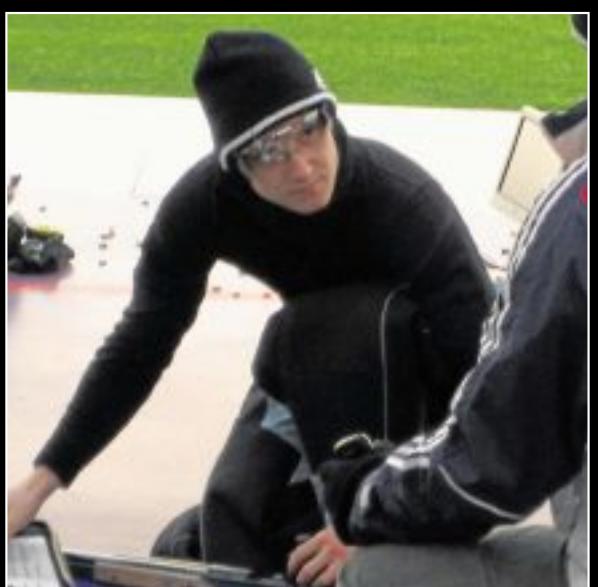

"Without a doubt I tried my best but I would have liked more, I think everyone would have. I lost it a little bit towards the end but it's my first event of three I'll be shooting here so hopefully I can just take this experience into my other events."

Huckle, who won four medals in Delhi at the 2010 Commonwealth Games, said although the crowd added pressure the support was definitely a positive.

He said: "It's crazy having a crowd behind you clapping after every shot, or even clapping at all. At most internationals you can almost hear a pin drop so it's great knowing that most of them will be supporting you. Although it does add pressure it's great for motivation and support."

Huckle had given himself a great chance of making the final by shooting two perfect rounds of 100 – 10 bullseyes from 10 shots.

Osagie ready for Olympic test

ANDREW Osagie will be targeting a medal when he competes in the 800 metres at the Olympic Stadium in Stratford on Monday morning. Osagie has returned from a training camp in Portugal with the whole GB track and field team. It will be the first time the 24-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member has competed at an Olympic Games.
